

TAC and COVID-19 Update on 24 March 2021

The safety of our youth members, volunteer leaders, staff, and employees continue to be the most important part of the TAC Scouting experience. We remain most deliberate with our decisions regarding face to face program delivery. TAC Covid-19 resources are posted at <https://tac-bsa.org/COVID-19updates>

Covid-19 conditions impact TAC Scouts and leaders with many challenging restrictions – on local travel, international travel, and gathering sizes – imposed by the countries where we host programs, the countries where our Scouts and staff reside, and the US Department of Defense (DoD) for its overseas personnel.

While supporting many virtual Scouting programs, TAC is also focusing on supporting the safe delivery of face to face Scouting--where and when permitted—beginning at the family level. Then going up from there—Scouting with a buddy, Scouting in a den or patrol, Scouting in a unit, and Scouting in the district or council. <https://www.scouting.org/scoutingathome/>

The health and safety of our TAC Scouting family is of utmost importance. We hope that you take all the precautions necessary to maintain your health and safety, as well as that of your friends and neighbors. It is vital to remain vigilant.

Here are resources to help you in this safe return journey to face to face Scouting.
